

San Jose Earthquakes Vs. FC (Football Club) Dallas

Saturday, May 14th

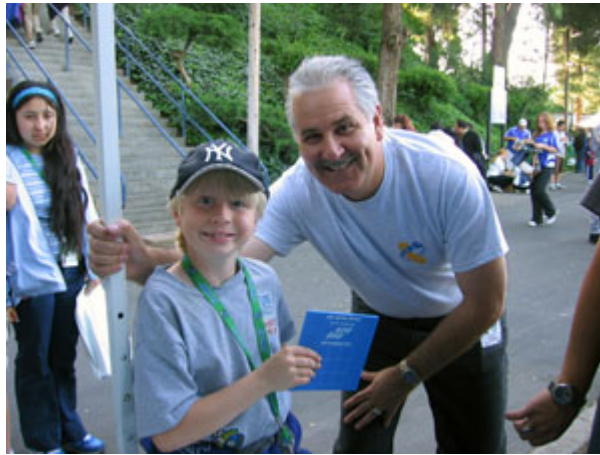

In May the OTS attended the San Jose Earthquakes game at Spartan Stadium. The booth is always a popular stop for soccer fans of all ages. Here, several fans try their luck with the traffic safety scratcher tickets.

Vince, one of the Crash Test Dummies, was on hand to remind soccer fans to always buckle up. Fines for not wearing a seatbelt have tripled and can cost upwards of $89! Remember, "Click It or Ticket!".

A Yankees fan at a soccer game? Mike Marando, OTS Public Affairs Manager, offers a young sports fan a tic-tac-toe board for being a safety star!

Larry, one half of the Crash Test Dummy duo, offers fun prizes to a young Earthquakes fan who told him, "I always wear my seatbelt and I make my little sister wear one, too!"

Vince and Larry know first hand the importance of wearing a seat belt every time they get into a vehicle. The "Click It or Ticket" campaign is a national effort to remind drivers and passengers alike to buckle up or risk getting fined.
